TERMS OF REFERENCE ASEAN ONE HEALTH NETWORK

I. BACKGROUND

On 10 May 2023, the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) during the 42nd ASEAN Summit in Indonesia issued the ASEAN Leaders' Declaration on One Health Initiative. The Declaration was announced against the backdrop of the region's recovery responses to the COVID-19 pandemic which spurred and further advanced regional cooperation and coordination in preparing and dealing with health emergencies, especially those with pandemic potential. There had been a recent increase in cases of emerging and re-emerging infectious diseases, including zoonotic diseases, the growing impact of antimicrobial resistance (AMR), challenges related to environmental degradation, climate change and food safety threats requiring countries to strengthen multi-sectoral and interdisciplinary efforts. ASEAN recognised the One Health approach provides a framework to address these challenges in a unified and integrated manner by breaking the silos between sectors and emphasising interdisciplinary collaboration.

The ASEAN Leaders' Declaration on One Health Initiative committed ASEAN to the establishment of a One Health Network supported by the ASEAN Secretariat, to develop and strengthen multisectoral collaboration and coordination of One Health initiatives among ASEAN Member States, including establishing linkages to existing and/or potential national mechanisms of ASEAN Member States.¹

The Quadripartite Organisations – the Food and Agriculture Organisation of the United Nations (FAO), the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP), World Health Organisation (WHO), and the World Organisation for Animal Health (WOAH) – are driving the actions required to mitigate the impact of current and future health challenges at the human–animal– plant–environment interface at global, regional, and country levels. The Quadripartite has developed the One Health Joint Plan of Action (2022–2026) (OH-JPA) which outlines the commitment of the four organisations to support the implementation of One Health. The One Health High-Level Expert Panel (OHHLEP) was established in May 2021 to advance the global One Health agenda. OHHLEP advises the Quadripartite by providing technical guidance, assessing health risks arising from the human–animal–plant– environmental interface, and identifying scientific evidence and action gaps to guide collective actions and effective collaboration to prevent future pandemics.

As an independent advisory group to the Quadripartite, OHHLEP has issued a comprehensive definition of One Health, which the Quadripartite embraces in its OH JPA:

One Health is an integrated, unifying approach that aims to sustainably balance and optimise the health of humans, animals, plants and ecosystems. It recognises the health of humans, domestic and wild animals, plants and the wider environment (including ecosystems) are closely linked and interdependent.

The approach mobilises multiple sectors, disciplines and communities at varying levels of society to work together to foster well-being and tackle threats to health and ecosystems, while addressing the collective need for clean water, energy and air, safe and nutritious food, taking action on climate change, and contributing to sustainable development.

Under the One Health framework, Quadripartite Regional One Health coordination mechanisms have been established consolidating cooperation between the Quadripartite Regional offices of FAO, UNEP, WHO, and WOAHA to address the wide range of activities within the human–animal–plant–environmental interface. The Quadripartite Regional mechanism has coverage over the UN's geographic regions – in the case of the Quadripartite this is the Asia-Pacific - wherein Southeast Asia is categorised as a sub-region, and the ASEAN region a political-institutional boundary within the sub-region.

Currently, ASEAN has several One Health leaning cross-sectoral coordination mechanisms and centres, including but not limited to the ASEAN Coordinating Centre for Animal Health and Zoonosis (ACCAHZ), the ASEAN Centre for Biodiversity (ACB), the ASEAN Risk Assessment Centre for Food Safety (ARAC), and the ASEAN Centre for Public Health Emergencies and Emerging Diseases (ACPHEED) which houses the ASEAN Public Health Emergency Coordination System (APHECS). However, a holistic regional mechanism to coordinate One Health across ASEAN has not been developed. Among the commitments explained in the ASEAN Declaration on One Health Initiative is the establishment of the ASEAN One Health Network (AOHN) which is envisaged as a multisectoral collaboration under the framework of One Health.

The AOHN is an expression of a commitment to a Whole-of-Society approach to inclusive and responsive One Health governance. This document outlines the terms of reference to establish the AOHN.

II. OBJECTIVE

The objective of the AOHN is to develop and strengthen multisectoral collaboration and coordination of One Health initiatives among ASEAN Member States, including establishing linkages to existing and/or potential national mechanisms of ASEAN Member States.

Recognising that a One Health (OH) approach requires the mobilisation and coordination of multiple sectors, disciplines and communities, the AOHN will develop and strengthen collaboration, communication, capacity building and coordination of OH initiatives among ASEAN sectoral bodies and working groups, ASEAN centres and entities associated with ASEAN, partners and other relevant stakeholders, through the following:

- i) Provide a dynamic approach to collaboration between sectors and at all levels to create synergy, focus collective outcomes and achieve equitable integration.
- ii) Foster advocacy and effective communication to improve transparency, trust-building, information sharing and risk management.
- iii) Support growth and capacity building of new and existing technical skills for improving evidence-informed decision-making to expand the One Health workforce.
- iv) Encourage shared responsibility and enable coordination mechanisms that foster partnerships, and strengthen regional consultation, cooperation, and inclusivity.

III. GUIDING PRINCIPLES

The AOHN will be guided by the following principles:

1. Respect for the sovereignty and national context of all ASEAN Member States in relation to the implementation of National OH-JPA or other related mechanisms while appreciating the interdependence on regional OH strengthening;
2. Thinking with a OH mindset to build an inclusive multisectoral approach across regional sectoral priority areas;
3. Prioritising linkages and enabling the establishment of trusted relationships between and among ASEAN sectoral bodies and working groups, ASEAN centres and entities associated with ASEAN, partners and other relevant stakeholders for the purposes of creating regional synergies and harmonisation;
4. Leveraging existing ASEAN mechanisms and organisations and recognising their regional strategic role in OH; and
5. Commitment to maintaining flexibility within the AOHN to adapt to changing priorities.

II. ROLES AND FUNCTIONS

1. Identify opportunities and priorities to progress the regional OH development and response through the development, ownership, review and updating of the ASEAN OH JPA.
2. Facilitate the exchange of OH knowledge and information and sharing of best practices through OH dialogue sessions, ASEAN coordination/working groups, AOHN website and Partner Platform engagement opportunities.

3. Promote and advocate for the strengthening of existing ASEAN coordination structures that can advance and support the regional OH technical development and commitment in ASEAN.
4. Monitor, collate and review the regional, cross-border and multi-country OH contributions across ASEAN to respond to the ASEAN OH JPA.
5. Advocate for the inclusion of OH perspectives in all relevant mechanisms and policies within ASEAN.
6. Adapt to changing priorities and ensure the ASEAN OH JPA remains responsive to emerging needs through regular review and revision.
7. Respond to emerging priorities through the recommendation of priority projects.
8. Provide a platform for the wider OH community in ASEAN to share knowledge and information, best practice, innovation, to raise regional issues and to discuss solutions to the AOHN.
9. Promote joint research and innovation to support OH implementation at regional and national levels;
10. Provide guidance and direction on the mobilisation of resources to support the implementation of identified OH priorities.

III. GOVERNANCE

A diagrammatic representation of the AOHN composition is provided in Annexure 2.

ASEAN One Health Joint Plan of Action (2023-2030)

Background

The ASEAN One Health Joint Plan of Action (OH JPA) is developed by taking into account the OH JPA of the Quadripartite – the Food and Agricultural Organisation (FAO), the United National Environment Program (UNEP), the World Health Organisation (WHO), the World Organisation for Animal Health (WOAH) - (henceforth referred to as the Quadripartite OH JPA) and the Theory of Change. The Quadripartite OH JPA is organized into 6 Action Tracks, namely:

1. Enhancing One Health capacities to strengthen health systems;
2. Reducing the risks from emerging and re-emerging zoonotic epidemics and pandemics;
3. Controlling and eliminating endemic zoonotic, neglected tropical and vector-borne diseases;
4. Strengthening the assessment, management, and communication of food safety risks;
5. Curbing the silent pandemic of AMR; and
6. Integrating the Environment into One Health.

The Quadripartite is currently developing an Implementation Guide to operationalise the Quadripartite OH JPA which outlines 5 stages:

1. Situation analysis
2. Multisectoral coordination mechanism
3. Implementation planning
4. Implementation
5. Review, sharing and incorporation of lessons learned

As part of the ASEAN Leaders' Declaration on One Health Initiative, a comprehensive analysis of One Health implementation is being conducted, for finalisation by September 2023 (stage 1) and a coordination mechanism is being developed, through the formation of an ASEAN One Health Network (AOHN) (stage 2):

"PURSUE comprehensive analysis of One Health implementation in ASEAN Member States and globally to assess national and regional capacity for strengthening the implementation of One Health"

"ESTABLISH ASEAN One Health Network supported by ASEAN secretariat, to develop and strengthen multisectoral collaboration and coordination of One Health Initiative among ASEAN Member States, including establishing linkage to existing and/or potential national mechanism of ASEAN Member States"

This ASEAN OH JPA outlines stage 3 – implementation planning – and will require updating upon the completion and operationalisation of stages 1 and 2. This document is intended to be a starting point for iterative development of the ASEAN OH JPA with the governance, monitoring and evaluation of the plan intended to be conducted through the AOHN.

The establishment of the AOHN is a commitment stated in the ASEAN Leaders' Declaration on One Health Initiative. As such, establishing and operationalising the AOHN will be the first priority in implementing the ASEAN OH JPA. The Terms of Reference for the ASEAN One Health Network and the ASEAN OH JPA will be notated at the 43rd ASEAN Leaders' Summit in September 2023.

Equity is also central to successfully implementing a One Health approach. The ASEAN Charter Article 1.13 states the goal of promoting equity in all sectors of society.

Equity in One Health requires moving towards a sustainable socioecological equilibrium where the trade-offs, risks and co-benefits between human, animal (domestic and wildlife), plant and environmental health as well as food safety are continually assessed and considered in decision making.

Each of the strategic objectives and activities has been considered in light of the following principles:

1. Respect for the sovereignty and national context of all ASEAN Member States in relation to the implementation of National OH-JPA or other related mechanisms while appreciating the interdependence on regional OH strengthening;
2. Thinking with a OH mindset to build an inclusive multisectoral approach across regional sectoral priority areas;
3. Prioritising linkages and enabling the establishment of trusted relationships between and among ASEAN sectoral bodies and working groups, ASEAN centres and entities associated with ASEAN, partners and other relevant stakeholders for the purposes of creating regional synergies and harmonisation;
4. Leveraging existing ASEAN mechanisms and organisations and recognising their regional strategic role in OH; and
5. Commitment to maintaining flexibility within the AOHN to adapt to changing priorities.

Pathways of Change

The ASEAN OH JPA has taken into consideration all the action tracks in the Quadripartite OH JPA while accounting for the existing ASEAN documents (agreements, frameworks, strategies, policies, plans, and initiatives) as well as the ASEAN Sectoral Bodies, centers, working groups, and institutions. The pathways of change outlined in the Quadripartite OH JPA provide a structure to ensure a One Health approach is adopted at the national level. Some aspects of the pathways (such as legislation) may not be directly applicable to the regional or ASEAN context. As a result, the pathways have been adapted (as per below) to ensure applicability to the ASEAN context.

Vision

The optimised and sustainably balanced health of humans, animals (domestic and wildlife), plants and environmental health for ASEAN Member States (AMS). Adapted from the ASEAN Leaders' Declaration on One Health Initiative

Mission

Develop ASEAN One Health Joint Plan of Action to improve regional and national capacity and capabilities with targets that are tangible, measurable, and time-bound, that calls for a stronger cross-sectoral collaboration between the relevant sectors involved in human, animal, plant, and environmental health, as well as food safety among the ASEAN Member States, including through bilateral and multilateral cooperation.

Objectives

- Guide the AOHN in facilitating and streamlining the implementation and resource mobilization for One Health approach;
- Serve as reference of the AMS in developing and operationalizing their respective national OH JPAs or equivalent in line with the ASEAN OH JPA; and
- Strengthen the health of human, animal, plant, and environment, as well as food safety, through cross-sectoral collaboration between the relevant sectors, including bilateral and multilateral cooperation.

Approach

The ASEAN OH JPA will take into account the following in its implementation:

1. The Pathway of Change that encompasses all aspects and sectors of One Health and the 6 Action Tracks;
2. Consultative approach with both existing governance structures of the ASEAN Sectoral Bodies, centers, working groups, and institutions and those being developed, and in cooperation with development and dialogue partners;
3. Consideration on the ongoing discussions of One Health, with an agile approach to remain responsive to the evolving priorities and opportunities in One Health.

ASEAN One Health Joint Plan of Action will be implemented in three (3) phases with the targeted timelines as follow:

- 1) Short term – 2023 until 2024
- 2) Medium term – 2025 – 2026
- 3) Long term – 2027 – 2030

The ASEAN OH JPA is a living document and will be iteratively updated reflecting the priorities of ASEAN Member States through the AOHN.
