The above Study Teams shall perform the following tasks:

1. Review land tenure policy and cadastral legal structure which support the disposition of public domain lands and convey the threshold lands.
2. Review of laws relating to natural resources management and the protection of the environment.
3. Identify the major constraints and limitations in the cadastral legal system and resource management and protection of laws.
4. Prepare report on the status of the Philippine Cadastre and the existing natural resource management and protection legal framework.
5. Evaluate options through workshops involving relevant interested parties and in evaluation studies where appropriate.
6. Select preferred options by a process of concensus and develop a framework for change to improve natural resource management and protection and of the level of service of the cadastre to the Philippine community.
7. Prepare a report on the evaluation of proposed changes.
8. Test and refine proposals by application to the land reform programs of CARP, ISF ancestral lands and in DENR natural resource programs.
9. Prepare downstream project proposals to include the drafting of proposed new laws for cadastral reform and for reform of natural resource management and protection practices.
10. Plan and document downstream project proposals designed to implement recommended changes.
11. Establish appropriate links to the GOP legislative process.

The subcomponent Study Teams shall meet as often as necessary to ensure the timely completion of the Land Laws component activity plan.
